Today is Wednesday and our last day at the courts until after Christmas.

Last night we had about 20 kids, our staff and several volunteers from our church pass out stockings and sing Christmas carols.

People were coming out of their apartments to listen and watch what was happening. Some people brought us cookies and others told us how thankful they were that we are at the courts. It took about two hours to pass out all the stockings. Everyone had so much fun.

Today when I took some gifts to one of our families, the mom told me how her kids played with the little toys that were in the stockings all night. Those were the toys that Matt and the guys brought down.

It was fun to see "tatted up" gang guys come to the door and ask for stockings for their kids.

I really wish you guys could be with us when we do these types of things. It is so amazing and so much fun. Our hearts get so full and eyes fill with tears over the joy of watching the kids and their parents.

Thank you again for supplying the gifts for the kids.

Merry Christmas,
Imogene
